VELOUTÉ KID GLOVES.

Never before has there appeared such a novelty in Men's Gloves as the new VELOUTE.

They are made from the best quality of real kid. and by a newly-discovered process the surface is converted into actual velvet, quite unlike the usual glace or glossy surface of kid leather. It is from this peculiarity that they are called "VELOUTE."

These Gloves are suitable for Dress, Walking and Business purposes, and are sold by Mr. Voorhoes, making inquiry as to the reasons for the regulations in the Cincinnati and Boston post-offices prohibiting appointments therein of persons over thirty years of age, and thereby excluding Union soldiers. A motion was then adopted discharging the considers from the further consideration of the subject.

Mr. Ferry introduced a bill providing for the issuance of postal-cards with flexible covers to conceal the message written thereon.

By Mr. Morgan; Resolution for the printing of testimony, &c., in repard to experiments with heavy guns and projectiles being built by the Government, and calling for the report of the mixed commission, &c., was taken up and adopted, with modifications suggested by the nutber.

At 195 relock the 3 percent, bend bill was taken up, the question being upon Mr. Plumb's amendment to apply the surplus revenues over $100,000,000 to a reduction of the public debt.

Mr. Hayard moved to smean so as to require that the $100,000,000 to be retained in the Treasury shall be of standard coin value. He wanted the dollars to be real, honest dollars—not paper.

Mr. Plumb signified his willingness to accept the amendment, as he had supposed the only dollars in the Treasury were standard coin dollars, but, upon a point made by Mr. Garland, it was ruled that a vote must be taken.

Mr. Bayard's metion was then adopted—ayes, $7; nee, $14.

Those voting "no" were Messra, Beck, Cockrell, mittee, after which the resolution was laid upon the table.

The house then (at 1:15) went into Committee of the Whole (Mr. Calkins in the chair) on the Post-Office apprepriation bill.

Mr. Binghain offered an amendment increasing by $100,026 the appropriation for the expenses of the free-delivery system and appropriating that amount for the extension of the system. He spoke in advocacy of his amendment, which would give a fair increase of satisty to the auxiliary letter-carriers, many of whom received but $400 a year, and were a hard-working class of near. The pages on the floor of the House, the men who cleaned out the spituous and swept the carridors of the Captol, were paid more money than $67 letter-carriers bonded to the Government and faithfully carrying a thousand letters a day.

Mr. Lord advocated such an increase of appropriation as would permit the compensation of letter-carriers to be raised.

Propositions were made to fix the amount appropriated for the extension of the free-delivery system at $50,000 and $10,000, but, pending a vote thoreon, the committee rose. The House then (at 8ve o'clock) and suried.

The Fanchon's Hop.

This winter Washington has seen more enjoy-able hops given by various social clubs than at ious session. The eighth complimentary of the Fanchon Club, given at Odd-Fellows' Hall last evening, was, without doubt, in ill respects the most enjoyable one given under the auspices of any social organization. The com-pany was not too large—just large enough to make lancing pleasant. The programmes were veritable dancing pleasant. The programmes were veritable gems of the printer's art, and as sourcains of the occasion will long be prized. They were cureased in covers of bristel board with gold edges, on the front being the portrait of a young lady fanciculty attired, framed in a border of fringed silk. A broad band of ribbon ran diagonally across the face of the cover. Inside were a list of the officers of the club, the eggagatons, and the following very appropriate quotations:

On with the dance! let joy be unconfined!
No sleep till more when youth and pleasure
To chase the gloomy nears with flying feet.
And Longfellow's
The what would be the first time.

And Longfellow's

The night shall be filled with music,
And the erres that infest the day
Shall find their tents like the Araba
And so sliculty steal away.
Everything went as pleasantly as a marriage bell, and it was early in the morning ere the hall had coased to echo to the strains of the gay dancemusic. The following gentlemen, who acted as committees and bad charge of the entertainment, describe great credit for the way in which they carried out the arrangements: Masier of ceremonites, John C. Echoff, assistants, T. W. Williams and J. E. Hawkshaw; floor committee, T. W. Williams, William Stolppe, J. E. Hawkshaw, and W. A.
White; reception committee, James M. Fegan, P.

The National Biffes.

The regular monthly meeting of the National Rifles was held at their armory, at Marini's Hall, last evening. The following-named gentlemen were elected honorary members of the company William C. Mertz, Robert Leitch, ir., E. B. Hay, and John P. Sousa, and five applications for active membership were referred to the recruiting committee. Invitations were accepted to attend the atea given by the Washington Light Guard and Union Veteran Corps. The Rifles offer a gold and Union Veteran Corps. The Bilites offer a gold and silver medal to the two ladies selling the greatest number of tickels for the opera of "The Smugglers," given under their attentes by the Washing-Em Operatio Assentation, on the 17th and 18th Instant. Many lotters were received from paries interested in the success of the Ribes, fair tendering many valuacie domains, and the appearances mileast that the firs will be in every respect equal to any entertainment of the kind given in this city.

THE LIGHT GUARD FAIR.

Another Pleasant Evening-Good Attendnnce and Musical Entertainment,

The fair now in progress at Masonic Temple for the benefit of the Washington Light Guard was well attended last evening, being favored by a beautiful moonlight evening. Various attractive additions had been made to the decorations, especially at the floral kloak. The glpsy tent was also newly added, and proved quite an object of curiosity. Several votes were cast for the grand Knabe plano, as follows: Miss Eva Mills, 1; Washington Operatic Association, 3; Dr. Frank Washington Operatic Association, 3; Dr. Frank T. Howe, 2. There were also several votes given for the editor's desk, and the voting for the doll and other articles lecame quite lively. Professor J. F. H. Blois favored the andience with some choice renditions upon the various instruments in the hall, and altogether the evening was a very pleasant one for those in attendance. The follow-ing articles were wen last evening: Silver cup, Mr. Frank Ash; basket of fruit, Miss Fannie Clark.

Kennedy's Nongs of Scotland.

The lovers of Scotlish minstrelsy will have another opportunity to night of listening to a melange of Scottish melodies under the head: "A Nicht wi Burns," by him and his family, in the Congregational Church. In their hands the sougs of the land "of brown heath and shaggy wood" are so characteristically and sweetly rendered that the true meaning and sentiment of each are vividly portrayed with the true perfervidum Scotorum spirit so marked in the race. The history of Scot-land is incomplete without her songs. For general dramatic power and skill, harmoniously blended dramatic power and skill, harmoniously blended with touches of exquisite humor and the graphic expression of what would seem to have been the tienls of the respective authors in the composition of their songs. Mr. Kennedy has had no competitor, at least in modern times. His heart and soul are in every song he sings, and he possesses in a remarkable degree the rare faculty of making his audience participate in his own ardent feelings and vivid conceptions. Since his visit in 1867 he has sung through Great Britisin and Iroland, South Africa, Australia, Tasmania, New Zeniand, and India, grathering laurels wherever he pitched his tent. The members of his family who accompany him have received a thorough and exacting musical education, which enables them in many songs to divide the honors of the evening entertainments with him.

Where Does the Responsibility Lie? Was Seaman Thomas Dunean's confinement of twenty-five days in the "brig" on board the op-of-war Portsmouth for bringing liquor on and in accordance with the "Articles of War for the Government of the Navy," or was it illogal ? Is not ten days the extent of punishment allowed on board a vessel when that vessel is within sig-nal distance of a senior commanding officer? As on board a vessel when that vessel is within signal distance of a senior commanding officer? As we understand the matter, Duncan was tried by a summary court, convened on board the Portsmouth by order of the sloop's commanding officer, Commander William Bainbridge Hoff, while Commander William Bainbridge Hoff, while Comodore Pattison's flag was flying from a vessel less than a hundred fathoms away, and in plain sight. There is a responsibility resting upon commanding and executive officers that cannot be shifted or avoided, and regulations and statutes define these so clearly that "he who runs" should be able to tread. The case of Captain Gherardi and his first lightenant is an instance of this. It is to mouth by order of the sloop's commanding officer, Commander William Bainbridge Hoff, while Comodore Pattison's flag was flying from a vessel less than a hundred fathoms away, and in plain sight. There is a responsibility resting upon commanding and executive officers that cannot be shifted or avoided, and regulations and statutes define these so clearly that "he who runs" should be able to read. The case of Captain Gherardi and his first Houtemant is an instance of this. It is to the credit of the service that there are so few officers in the navy that make a ship a "hell affout" for "Jack," and no one who knows the kind-hearted commander of the Portsmouth will attribute any blame. If blame there be, for the death of poor Duncan.

Use of Water on Millitary Reservations Judge Advocate-General Swaim has just de-cided an interesting question in reference to the use by farmers and others of the water from springs on Government military reservations. Mr. A. Do sey, of Warm Creek rauch, Nevada, applied to the General commanding the Military Division of the Pacific for permission to use water from the warm spring and creek near Fort Halleck for purp spring and creek near Fort Halleck for purposes of irrigation, and the matter was referred to the Secretary of War, who referred it to the Judge-Advocate-General for an opinion as to the legal rights of the petitioner to use the water. General Swaim gave an opinion that no such right existed in law, but that the Secretary night grant the necessary permission if so disposed. Instructions were thereupon issued that the water might be used by the farmers in question, provided it did not interfere with the supply to the garrison.

The statement telegraphed off by the Associated Press was probably inspired by one of the many officers of each corps who expect to be banefited or by those who hope for the staff.

The Charity Ball. The annual charity ball, in aid of the Childrens' Hospital, will take place at the Masonic Temple on Thursday evening, February 16. The lady managers of this one of the noblest charities in our midst, have for years past made a substantia addition to its treasury each year by means of the annual ball, and it is hoped that the generous transact which our best citizens have heretofor response which our best citizens have heretofore made in this behalf will be fully equaled this ses-son and that the attendance will be large and, of LOCAL MENTION.

The Importers' Tea Company, of 819 Market Space, still continue to do a thriving business. A large number of our most prominent citizens have patronized the above establishment during the past few days, and all express themselves as being highly bleased with the tea and coffee purchased. While a good many purchasers, regardless of age, sex, creed, or color, received valuable souveutra with their tea and coffee, which in every instance was as much a surprise to the purchaser as to the crowd of autonished bystanders, not a single complaint has yet been made. On the contrary, each and every one seems to be perfectly satisfied with the straightforward and business-like manner in which the affairs of the Importers' Tea Company are conducted. The management with not allow doesnition in any form to be practiced. All are treated in an honorable manner, and every one purchasing may rest assured that their chances of obtaining something valuable in addition to the tea or coffee are just as good as thoir uext door neighbors. The tea, which is excellent in quality, is put up in paper can elly pounds in each can) and sold at the uniform price of $\tilde{s}$ to one and all. The coffee, averaging $\tilde{s}$, pounds to the ean is hard to beat, gives universal satisfaction, and selfs same as tea for $\tilde{s}$ per eas. Step in and make your purchases.
